

Timothy Nightingale, Executive Vice President and senior lending officer of Camden National Bank. A 31-year banking veteran, Tim has spent the last 13 with Camden National Bank. There he is responsible for the commercial lending division of the bank, which entails all aspects of the bank's business development and commercial lending activities. In addition, he is responsible for the corporate services, credit, collections, special assets, and sub-servicing departments of the bank.

Prior to joining Camden National Bank, Nightingale held commercial lending positions with Key Bank, Fleet Bank, and Casco Northern Bank. An Aroostook County native, Nightingale holds a master's degree in business administration from the University of Maine at Orono and a bachelor's degree in business administration from Augusta State College in Augusta, Georgia, as well as a commercial lending certificate from the American Institute of Banking (AIB). He is also a graduate of the Maine Development Foundation's Leadership Maine program.

He currently serves on the board of directors of Maine Technology Institute, the Finance Authority of Maine's (FAME) Advisory Committee, and the Commercial Lending Committee for Maine Bankers Association. Nightingale lives in Rockport with his wife Karla and daughter Natalie.